Celle-ci était la véritable lumière, celle qui, en venant dans le monde, éclaire tout être humain.

John 1:9

Un MOUNTAINTOP EXPERIENCES

A new year conference can have a huge impact on a student's life. At last year's conference a girl named Lisa decided to accept Christ as her savior! When we saw her in Nantes this past summer she was enthusiastic about sharing her new faith with others. Coming back to the conference in the Alps this year was special for her. We need God every day, but it's refreshing to have these mountaintop experiences. This year, it was our task once again to organize the ski day. Dan took care of all the reservations and payment and May made sure the outing went smoothly.

Formerly a ski racer, May is happiest on skis, can you tell? This year's conference had the theme: God has no limits! This is truly remarkable, especially considering how he chooses to work through such limited people. What big things does God want us to trust him for this year?

Deux LOOKING AROUND

Sometimes it's good to take a step back and look around, consider where you are. We are ever so thankful that we get to serve God here in France. This past year Dan was more and more involved with local campus ministry here, which has been very refreshing. His internet role keeps shifting and evolving and remains a definite challenge. Our boys have done well in school, which is not guaranteed in a foreign country. Silas is progressing in violin and Efrem blows off some steam at Judo. May somehow juggles her busy schedule while helping the French National director with specific projects. There is much to look forward to this year. Dan continues to develop questions2vie.com, a new French EveryStudent site, and is excited to see it ready for action. We'll also be flying back to the States this summer, which is always cherished. We expect to do a lot of traveling, especially to visit family. Then there are a number of home improvement projects like repairing a floor that has suffered water damage and re-doing the boys' room after related humidity problems so they can move back into it. Then of course there is talking with students about Jesus, which has to be the best job in the world. Thank you SO much for partnering with us to and making all of this possible! We really appreciate you standing behind us over here.

Praise...

- for the student outreaches for Thanksgiving and Christmas, with new contacts for discovery groups.
- for God's sustaining grace!

Please pray...

- for the conference Dan will attend with national campus leaders in Dublin later this month.
- for the continued work on questions2vie.com (which means 'life questions')
